Thousands Greet Him on Lecture Platform and He is Interrupted Time and Time Again by Applause

By Associated Press.
PARIS, April 23.—To use Colonel Roosevelt's own words, today marked the crowning of his career as a man of letters. From noon until midnight he was the guest of intellectual Paris, participating as a member at the French academy, delivering a lecture at Sorbonne, which he said was the foremost seat of learning in Europe before America was discovered, remaining as a guest of the faculty for dinner, and a reception given by the university in his honor.

The colonel's reception at the institute at Sorbonne was equally impressive, but in a different way. At the former he was introduced merely as a member.

He listened to the words of M. Bouteux, president of the academy of moral and political sciences, who spoke eloquently of American ideals, the character of his utterances arousing his venerable colleagues to unwonted applause. At Sorbonne no attempt was made to restrain the demonstrations. The facade bristled with American and French flags and fully 25,000 persons packed the streets acclaiming Roosevelt on his arrival. Roosevelt was interrupted again and again by applause as the speaker defined the duties of individual citizenship in the republic, scorning the sluggish, cynics and idle rich and preaching the gospel of work, character and strenuous life.

He made his auditors clearly realize that he considered the republican institutions still on trial in both America and France. When he spoke of race suicide and the necessity for the nation to perpetuate itself as one of the principal duties he was heartily applauded. Following his lecture Vice Rector Liard on behalf of the University presented Roosevelt with a bust of Jefferson and two vases made at Sevres.

ROOSEVELT LECTURES ON CITIZENSHIP IN FRANCE AND THE UNITED STATES

Success or Failure Depends on How the Average Citizen Attends to His Every Day Affairs.

By Associated Press.
PARIS, April 23.—In his lecture today at the Sorbonne, Colonel Roosevelt spoke on individual citizenship in the republics of France and the United States. In part he said:

"With you here, and with us in my own home, in the long run, success or failure will be conditioned upon the way in which the average man, the average woman, does his or her duty first in the ordinary, every-day affairs of life, and next in those great occasional circles which call for heroic virtues. The average citizen must be a good citizen if our republics are to succeed. The stream will not permanently rise higher than the main source; and the main source of national power and national greatness is found in the average citizenship of the nation. Therefore it behooves us to do our best to see that the standard of the average citizen is kept high; and that the average cannot be kept high unless the standard of the leaders is very much higher.

"It is well if a large proportion of the leaders in any republic, in any democracy, are, as a matter of course, drawn from the classes represented in this audience today; but only provided that those classes possess the gifts of sympathy with plain people and devotion to great ideals. You and those like you have received special advantages; you have all of you had the opportunity for mental training; many of you have had leisure; most of you had a chance for the enjoyment of life far greater than comes to the majority of your fellows. To you and your kind much has been given, and from you much should be expected.

"It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena,

Early tomorrow morning the body will leave for Elmira where the family plot is located. In accordance to the wishes of the family the services today were brief and simple.

WILL PETITION CLARK TO EXTEND L. V. & T. ROAD

APPEAL WILL BE MADE FOR SIGNATURES OF LOCAL MERCHANTS.

Instead of calling for a mass meeting as was suggested several days ago by a number of leading citizens of Tonopah, relative to the securing of signatures to a petition asking Senator W. A. Clark to extend the Las Vegas and Tonopah railroad to this city, the petitions will be circulated around town. There is hardly any doubt but what every business man here will place his signature to the papers, for the advent of the Clark road will mean a great deal to this locality.

From information received it is understood that all that is required will be a petition showing that the new road will receive its share of the patronage, and is not entering a hostile country. Owing to the great dissatisfaction now existing concerning freight rates and slowness of transportation, this is an opportune moment for the extending of the terminus of the Clark road to Tonopah.
